The Meine Law .- The temperance folks held their usual meeting, on last Sunday night, at Temperance Hall. Mr. Savage was the first speaker, and was followed by a Mr. Harrington, whose speech was a conplete olla podrida, a farrago of nonsense and absurdiry, it was, to quote the words of the poet, "Every-thing by turns and nothing long." Had we not known the speaker, we should have concluded from his remarks that he was a Red Republican, from France, about to smill us with his social doctaines; or an English Chartist lecturer, whose vecation, like Othelio's, being gone, since the im-provement there in trade, had emigrated to the United States, to stir up disaffection. Instead of confining himself to the subject of temperance. the speaker bolted oil into a political rhapsody and to hear him, one would have concluded that our mechanics were as unjustly treated, and as badly off as the factory operatives of Lancashire. His tirales were buried at effice holders and office-seekers. people whom he designated as "bern with silver spoons in their mouths," and then their position was contrasted with that of the laboring classes, who, As we went to hear a temperance lecture; and not to be leared on a Sunday evening with political revolutionizing social dectrines, we have a-right to complain, for it is practising a deception, to promise one thing and then to give another. Mr. Harrington was followed by another speaker, whom Mr. Savage introduced, if we rightly heard, as Mr. Harrison, an old advocate of the cause. Mr. Harrison's remarks were more judicions than those of the last speaker, he depreeased both licentions speaking and a licentious press, in which we cordially concur. He then introduced the subject of freedom of speech, and instanced the attack upon Mr. Savage as a violation of it. When Mr. Savage was saluted with a battery of eggs while preaching on the avenue, if he had not been a phiosopher as he was, he would have risen up in his might and have demolished Mr. Hunter. The proseedings concluded with Mr. Harrison's speech, but from the noise and confusion that was premeditatedly made on various occasions, we shrewdly suspect that many of the temperance folks, that is a portion of the audience, go in on a Sunday night, for what is commonly called a "lark."

Metropolitan Institute .- A correspondent, "J. T. P.," writes to us of his pleasure at being present at a meeting of the pupils of the Metropolitan Institute, under the supervision or control of the Rev. Dr. Peck, (late President of Dickinson College, Pa.,) at the Foundry Church. The performances of the young ladies and gentlemen were highly gratifying. The scholars meet once a month in this way, for the purpose of preparing themselves for public elocution, which is an excellent method of affording improvement. The school is in a flourishing condition, consisting of several departments, under the cotrol of competent teachers, and numbering upwards of one hundred and twenty pupils. There is also attached a department for young ladies and gentlemen, calculated to fit them for almost any station in

The School-house is situated on 12th, between G and H streets. The above naned gentleman is now erecting another building adjoining the present one, for the accommodation of the students.

The Terpsichoreans concluded their entertainments in this city, last night, by giving a performance for the benefit of the Union Infantry. This compaby of juvenile soldiers, marched to Odd Fellows' Wall, "with all the pompand circumstanges of war." to the enlivening martial music of the fife and the drum. The room was tolerably well filled, but as this occasion, we doubt whether our young heroes notted much by the affair. There is one consolation, "they are young and the world lies before them," as the Capon of Salamanca said to his nephew Gil Blas, when he went to seek his fortune. The Minstrels will perform for this and the ensuing night at Georgetown, and from there proceed to Baltimore.

Beautiful Ware .- Pursell & Son, opposite Brown's Hotel, have at their establishment a most beautiful assertment of gold band and plain French. English, American, China and Glass Ware. These gentlemen have also a variety of the most, beautiful, cuttery and fancy goods, which they are prepared to dispose of at wholesale er retail. They invite an examination of their stock.

News! news! -As the Irishman said, "pigs is riz ' It appears that the colored women of Washington and Georgetown are about to strike for an advance of wages on their present prices of hire. It will be, we are almost afraid, like the tailors' strike in London, when every one would have had to mend and make his own clothes, but for the simple remedy of importing fresh hands. There is no evil without its cure.

In the Canal .- Last night, a young man crossing 7th street bridge, heard a cry, and on going directly to the spot whence it proceeded, he found a gentleman striving to get out of the canal. He offered his a sistance, and the sufferer was rescued. The gentleman couldn't swim; was perfectly sober; walked in accidentally; and had it not been for the assistance of the passer by, he would have been drowned. Won't somebody import a cargo of hollow bricks? # Clothes Line Thief .- A colored man, named James Fox, was arrested this morning for stealing shirts from a clothes line. He was lodged in the guard house, to await an examination.

Assault and Bottery .- John Sullivan was arrested last evening, by officer Davis, for cutting John Dacy's head with a stone. He gave security for peace, after an examination before Justice Donn.

Circuit Court .- Philip H. Minor ex. the estate of A. Hunter, deceased, late Marshal of the District. The above named suit was resumed from yesterday. Previously, however, to its being taken up, on the opening of the Court, Mr. Marbury, one of the counsel for the defendant, in the case of Ellen Johnston and children ts. Morris Adler, administrator of Mr. Turner, made application that the petitions of the children of the slave for freedom, should be put off hearing until next term. The reason alleged being the difficulty of producing in the witness box Mise Kitty Magruder, whose written depositions had been put in as evidence, as already mentioned in our report of the suit. The application was granted by Mr. Carlisle, one of the counsel for the plaintiff. Philip H. Minor, in the above mentioned action, re plied to Mr. H. W. Davis, of Baltimore, one of the defendant's counsel, who had argued the question for his client on yesterday, and had not finished when we went to press. Mr. Carlisle read a printed account from Howard's Reports of the transactionnamely, the terms of agreement by which the plain-tiff was engaged by the Marshal, to which the brother of the plaintiff, Daniel Minor, was a party. The latter suggesting that his brother's salary should be increased. The point of argument, the counsel said, was whether the agreement was limited to one year or for any length of time that Hunter was in office. In either case, he contended that the decision of the Supreme Court was centrary to all law and justice. The learned counsel continued to read the report of the case, as given in Howard's Reports, making his comments thereupon where it was prejudicial to his client. The entries made in the account book by Danie! Minor, he maintained, did not prove that the plaintiff, Philip Minor, had been receiving for fourteen years, a salary of $400 per annum. The entries only showed that certain sums had been received by the plaintiff. The above and other arguments were adduced by the counsel (Mr. Carlisle,) to rebut the testimony produced before the Supreme Court, and to show the errors of its decision. He contended that a special agreement, limited to one year, was made by the defendant, Hunter, with the proviso that the salary should afterwards be increased at a reasonable rate. There was nothing in the conduct of General Hunter to show that it was his intention to dispute the claims of the plaintiff.

Mr. Carlisle then took up the documentary eviat had been brought forward on the part of dant, consisting of receipts and vouchers ine o. for mor y received in payment of services. He maintained that the papers produced from the Trea-sury dated 1845 and 1846, as evidence for the defendant formed no part of the contract, and did not harmonize with it. They were certainly evidence, but did not support the defendant's case, by the law Hunter was obliged to make a return of emoluments, amounting to more than $5,000 per annum. By the receipts of money paid to Philip H. Minor, the fees of General Hunter were reduced to below this sum after paying his expenses, as required by the law. the surplus, he being entitled to pay into the Trea sury. The counsel maintained that this was the reason of paying these sums to his elerk, Philip H Minor, for which the receipts had been produced, that he might bring down his fees to the amount required by law, and therefore, the sums of money received by the plaintiff and accounted for, were merely for such a purpose. He contended that the instructions prayed for by Mr. Davis, the counsel for the defendant, could not be granted unless with certain conditions which he then read.

The Georgetown Independent vs. the Rev. Dr. Smith.-We perceive, on reading the columns of the Georgetown Independent of to day, that its editor is down upon the Rev. Dr. Smith, of this city, circet, west, and New Jersey avenue, upon certain for some remarks made by the latter in a sermon preached on Thanksgiving day, a sketch of which was given in yesterday's Star. We have looked over the paragraphs alluded to by the religious editor. and cannot see any of the blasphemy with which he covertly designs to charge the reverend gentleman. Considering the source from which this pious! horfor proceeds, and the deep attachment felt by him for holy things, we should have deemed the editor of No. 10, -quare 428. Referred to Committee on Ways improper motives to the reverend gentleman. As the company. far as we are concerned, the report of the sermon. An act regulating the sale of hay, straw and folder. | as given in the Star, is correct, but we really think that the attack made by the Georgetown Independent upon Dr. Santh and his discourse, was unwarranted and that it contains nothing to justify the remarks of

> OG-The Baltimore Patriot thus speaks of Dr. Hunter, who is now in Washington:

Dr. Hunter .- We take pleasure in again calling the attention of our readers to the card of this gentleman in to day's paper. The treatment of bron-Bull for amending the act for registry of births, chitis and consumption by inhalation is exciting a eaths and marriages. Referred to special committee, good deal of attention at this time, and we sincerely trust may prove to be instrumental in diminishing the melancholy fatality of these diseases, which in our variable climate are our greatest scourge. In this city, according to the bills of mortality, about one thousand deaths occur annually from consump tion alone, and yet, in this respect Baltimore is more highly favored than most Northern cities. The prevalence and generally the hopelessness of consumption, renders, we conceive, any new plan of treatment, which carries with it a reasonable chance of doing good, an object of importance to the whole community, and such we regard the treatment by abaling medicated air into the longs as advised by Dr. Hunter to be, independent of the success with which it appears to have been attended.

> Delay.-The cars from Baltimore were detained last night till near ten o'clock by meeting another train on the road; causing the Washington ears to put back to let the others pass.

The Dinner at Field's Hotel .- It was Mr. Towers, and not Dr. Frailey, who proposed at the above durner that Major Field should be promoted to a Coloneley for his hospitality.
